Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the use of the language "wet-proof" is inaccurate in describing the structure for the ball. More appropriate language would "water-proof".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 2, the scope of the claim is unclear as it defines the elastic bags as having a figure "8" shape. However, it appears that the cover itself comprises the figure "8" shape. Clarification is required.

In claim 3, the language "if" is indefinite in positively defining the structure for the invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Su et al. (4,815,737) in view of Smith (5,294,112). Regarding claim 1, Su discloses a baseball construction comprising a cover (10, 12), a bag (14) having an opening, and a cover (30, 32).

Note column 2, lines 21-23 stating that the bag is made from a conventional plastic material.

Thus, the bag is obviously formed from a material that is both elastic and waterproof. However, Su lacks the teaching for a plurality of bags surrounding the core.

Smith reveals a game ball construction including a core (11) and a plurality of bags (12-16) that have openings that do not overlap one another (note Figures 2-7). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to form the ball of Su with a plurality of bags in order to better reinforce the core of the ball and reduce the change of breakage of the bag.

Regarding claim 2, insofar as this claim may be understood, the structure is rendered obvious by Su since Su provides a cover (30, 32) comprising figure "8" shapes.

Regarding claim 3, the claim is rendered obvious by Su since Su provides a bag that does enclose the ball core.
